

Medical Malpractice Defense

We successfully represent hospitals, physician practice groups, skilled nursing facilities, physicians, nurses and other healthcare industry specialists in a wide variety of medical malpractice actions. Our experience spans across nearly every area of medical expertise, including anesthesia, ophthalmology, transplant medicine, obstetrics and gynecology, emergency medicine, orthopedics, internal medicine, neurology, general surgery and various surgical specialties. We routinely defend our clients in cases involving:

- Anesthesia complications
- Birth trauma
- Drug induced injuries
- Emergency treatment
- Failure to diagnose
- Failure to properly manage or treat conditions
- Medication errors
- Obstetrics and pediatric claims
- Surgical complications
- Treatment errors or omissions
- Wrongful death

Our medical malpractice attorneys are experienced trial lawyers who have achieved defense verdicts across the country in both state and federal courts. Our current relationship with several major healthcare providers demonstrates the responsibility and trust placed in our firm's medical malpractice attorneys. This representation requires that our attorneys appear in difficult jurisdictions - including the Circuit Courts for the City of St. Louis, Missouri, and Madison County and St. Clair, Illinois - on nearly a daily basis. Our firm's proven record in these forums demonstrates our willingness and ability to defend the most difficult cases in the toughest jurisdictions in the country. Our clients benefit from our attorneys' unique strengths and can leverage our trial experience and success into favorable settlements when appropriate.

Our representation extends beyond litigation, and we actively work with clients and risk managers to identify, avoid and resolve risk. We also proactively investigate claims before a suit is filed and endeavor to resolve matters using arbitration, mediation and other dispute resolution methods whenever possible. In addition to our courtroom experience, we represent professionals before various licensing boards.