Husch Blackwell's Bill Corum Named a 2012 BTI Client Service All-Star

BTI Consulting Group named Husch Blackwell Partner William E. Corum to its 2012 BTI Client Service All-Stars list. The All-Stars are an elite group of attorneys identified exclusively by corporate counsel, and recognized nationally as delivering the best in client service. According to BTI's report, those listed "impress corporate counsel with a keen understanding of business issues, thought-leading approaches to legal services and total commitment to client needs." This is the second time Corum made the select list; he was also named in 2009.

Corum works in the firm's Kansas City, Mo., office, in the areas of Business Litigation, Construction & Design and Labor & Employment law. He is often engaged as lead trial counsel and litigation strategist representing national and global companies. Corum prosecutes and defends commercial/business disputes and construction/design claims for corporate clients through arbitration and litigation in state and federal courts throughout the United States. In addition, he has successfully represented numerous employers in employment-related claims nationwide, including state and federal claims of sexual harassment, discrimination, FMLA, ERISA and restrictive covenant litigation matters.
