Husch Blackwell, TREIA Launch 2018 Renewable Energy Webinar Series

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce the launch of its five-part webinar series focused on the Texas renewable energy industry, “New Directions: Renewable Energy in a Transforming Environment.” The series is presented in conjunction with the Texas Renewable Energy Industries Alliance (TREIA).

The first installment of the 2018 series will take place May 18, 2018, at noon CDT and will explore the prevailing market conditions experienced by renewable energy producers within the Electric Reliability Council of Texas (ERCOT) market. Presenters will provide guidance on associated pricing trends, commercial terms, and challenges. The program will be hosted by Husch Blackwell partner Chris Reeder and will include Pat Milligan, Senior Associate, Commercial Energy, ICF, and Shalini Ramanathan, Vice President, Origination, Renewable Energy Systems.

Future installments of the 2018 New Directions webinar series will include the following topics:

June: Financing Renewable Energy Development

August: Storage, New Technologies, and Demand Response: Regulatory Outlook and Integration

October: ERCOT Market Performance: Summer 2018

December: Texas Legislative Session Preview

Continuing legal education credit for the program is pending for Texas.
