Husch Blackwell Named Among Top Trademark and Patent Litigation Firms

Husch Blackwell has been recognized by two national legal publications for its work in the area of intellectual property law.

Husch Blackwell was named by Corporate Counsel magazine and ALM Media as one of the "Busiest Firms Overall in Patent Litigation." The firm ranked 35th overall in ALM Media's annual Patent Litigation Survey, based on the number of patent litigation cases Husch Blackwell tried in district courts in 2009. ALM is a leading provider of specialized business news and information, focused primarily on the legal and commercial real estate sectors.

Husch Blackwell has also been recognized by Intellectual Property Today magazine as one of the "2010 Top Trademark Firms" in the country. The firm placed 11th among the 210 firms and individuals in the survey with 555 trademarks issued in 2009. Intellectual Property Today is one of the leading legal intellectual property publications and determines its rankings according to the total number of issued registered trademarks that firms obtained on behalf of their clients.
