Three Husch Blackwell Attorneys Named to KC Techweek 100

Husch Blackwell's Jeff Simon, Nathan Oleen and Ed Wilson have been named to the 2018 Kansas City Techweek 100.

The Techweek 100 list recognizes leaders who significantly contribute to the business and technology landscape in Kansas City. Simon was named an Ambassador, considered to be "founders, influencers, and prominent voices who act as positive representatives for the tech community." Oleen and Wilson were named Cultivators, representatives of "organizations that support and enable the tech ecosystem."

Techweek organizers said the Techweek100 list is a "celebration of fast-growing companies, prominent investors, key enablers of the digital ecosystem, creators of new technologies, and other innovators that make important contributions to their field." Techweek Kansas City 2018 is scheduled for October 8-12.
