Sonia Anderson Named Finalist for Colorado Bar Association Young Lawyer of the Year

Husch Blackwell's Sonia Anderson has been selected as a finalist for the Colorado Bar Association's 2019 Gary McPherson Award for Outstanding Young Lawyer of the Year. The award recognizes a young Colorado lawyer for his or her outstanding contributions to the legal profession and community.

Anderson, an associate in the firm's Denver office, focuses her practice on employment law. She also works on OSHA compliance issues. She is Vice President of Committees for the Colorado Hispanic Bar Association (CBHA). This year, she was also recognized as a "Promising Start" by the University of Colorado School of Law.
