Castillo Named President of the National Association of Latino Healthcare Executives' Central Texas Chapter

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Dominic Castillo has been named President of the Central Texas Chapter of the National Association of Latino Healthcare Executives (NALHE).

Castillo, associate in the firm's Austin office, is a member of the firm's Healthcare Regulatory & Compliance Counseling team. He provides guidance to healthcare clients ranging from individual practitioners to large national hospital systems on compliance, transactional and licensure matters. Prior to joining Husch Blackwell, Castillo was a medical billing auditor and analyst at both a national third-party administrator and a Texas workers' compensation insurance company.

The National Association of Latino Healthcare Executives, founded in 2005, is a national organization led by Latino/Latina executive leaders of U.S. hospitals and healthcare organizations and experts in the fields of health care policy and practice.
