Ingram's C-Suite Awards Honors Blake Rooney in Chief Information/Technology Officer Category

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Chief Information Officer Blake Rooney has been named the inaugural recipient of Ingram's C-Suite Awards in the Chief Information/Technology Officer category.

Based in Kansas City, Rooney has more than a decade of experience as a leader in legal information technology. He works with the firm's innovation team to deliver forward-thinking technology that utilizes artificial intelligence, machine learning, drives efficiency and protects client privacy. His guiding principle is to provide technology and IT support that allow attorneys and other Husch Blackwell professionals to work with security, efficiency and flexibility, whether in the office, the courtroom or at home.

Ingram's C-Suite Awards recognizes excellence in executive achievement at companies within the Kansas City region. Read the full profile in the January 2023 issue: Ingram's 2023 C-Suite Awards.
