

THOUGHT LEADERSHIPWHITE
PAPERSUPDATED: APRIL
7, 2025 PUBLISHED: MARCH
20, 2023ServiceAnimal Health &
ProductionIndustry

Food Systems

Professionals

RYANN A. GLENN

OMAHA:

402.964.5220

RYANN.GLENN@

HUSCHBLACKWELL.COM

AMANDA JOLEE

OMAHA:

402.964.5216

AMANDA.JOLEE@

HUSCHBLACKWELL.COM

DANIEL ZIMMER

OMAHA:

402.964.5125

DANIEL.ZIMMER@

HUSCHBLACKWELL.COM

State-By-State Guide to Ag-Gag Legislation

Several states have made attempts to provide the animal production industry protection against unlawful interference by enacting so-called Ag-Gag laws. A wave of litigation is challenging these laws as unconstitutional, claiming the laws violate the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech.

Since the 1990s, state legislatures have grappled with how to safeguard the animal production industry against smear campaigns by individuals or animal welfare activist groups who gain access to private property through deception. After all, trespass is a crime—in one form or another—in every state.

Our State-By-State Guide to Ag-Gag Legislation provides an at-a-glance summary of those states that have attempted and/or succeeded in implementing Ag-Gag laws.

Download Report