Josh Levy, Eric Meier Selected for Wisconsin Law Journal's Power 30 Real Estate and Construction Law Attorneys

National law firm Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Milwaukee-based partners Josh Levy and Eric Meier have been named to the Wisconsin Law Journal Power 30 Real Estate and Construction Law Attorneys list.

Levy, co-leader of Husch Blackwell's Construction & Design practice, helps clients navigate the complex challenges faced in the construction industry. He founded the firm's Construction Academy, which serves as a resource for attorneys, clients, and other construction professionals seeking to understand the legal fundamentals of the industry. Alongside his legal practice, Levy is a member of the firm's Communities for Change initiative, offering pro bono representation for minority-owned businesses and entrepreneurs. He also assists with organizing the annual Cream City Construction Conference, supporting Milwaukee's minority contractors.

Meier is a partner in the firm's Financial Services & Capital Markets industry team, where he regularly counsels clients on construction-related planning, contract review and risk mitigation. He also advises a multitude of other businesses, from manufacturing to software, on complex planning and risk management matters.

The Wisconsin Law Journal Power 30 lists recognize attorneys who are leaders in the region. The Journal's editorial team made the final choices for this list based on stories published during the year, recommendations from attorneys across Wisconsin, and outcomes achieved in cases.
