OVERVIEW

Clients appreciate Kamron's unique litigation skills, including working with opposing parties to diplomatically resolve conflicts.

Kamron brings a unique blend of real-world business acumen and a diverse background to his litigation practice. He is particularly recognized for his ability to navigate complex litigation matters that present novel concepts and theories of relief. Whether a case involves untested legal arguments, emerging areas of law, or intricate factual scenarios, Kamron focuses on finding practical solutions to help clients succeed.

Kamron's litigation experience spans all stages of the legal process in both state and federal courts. He has successfully represented clients in matters involving breach of contract, trade secrets, business torts, fiduciary duty allegations, shareholder disputes, Constitutional matters, and federal and state regulatory and administrative matters. In addition to his hands-on litigation work, Kamron helps lead and manage a team responsible for nationwide litigation.

Kamron's goal is to simplify complicated legal problems so that business leaders can focus on running their companies. His commitment to this goal is rooted in his belief that litigation should serve the broader success of clients' businesses. Kamron is also the co-chair of HB Allies, the firm's inclusive leadership and allyship best practices employee resource group (ERG).

Case Study

Farmobile LLC

Farmobile secured a complete defense victory in enterprise-threatening trade secret litigation.

Featured Experience

Husch Blackwell Team Gains Favorable Judgment for Client in Trade Secret Litigation

Farmobile, an independent farm data company, faced allegations that it misappropriated trade secrets from competitor Farmers Edge. The lawsuit sought a judgment declaring the plaintiff to be the owner of certain Farmobile intellectual property. Persuasive argument by the Husch Blackwell team, led by Marnie Jensen and including Kamron Hasan, resulted in a complete victory on summary judgment for Farmobile. When the decision was affirmed in the Eighth Circuit, the appellate court's decision noted unprotected information shared with a third party by plaintiff, and that our clients were not hired as inventors or under relevant contractual obligation.

Experience

- Secured district court's assigned value of $893 million – $300 million more than defendants' competing valuation – for Streck, Inc, in shareholder oppression case, one of Nebraska's largest valuation disputes. Decision was affirmed on appeal before the Nebraska Supreme Court.
- Served on collaborative pro bono legal team for Set Aside Program. Legal Aid of Nebraska screened candidates and Husch Blackwell attorneys helped participants fill out documents to nullify criminal convictions, such as shoplifting, that would otherwise impact job searches and the ability to serve in the military.
- After filing motion, brief and evidence for preliminary injunction on behalf of national canine research organization, served on legal team that achieved voluntary agreement from a municipality to stop enforcement of breed-specific canine ban.
