OVERVIEW

An experienced finance and operations leader, Cam plays an integral role in supporting client business and leading her team to achieve the best results for clients.

Cam serves as Managing Director of the firm's Financial Services & Capital Markets business unit, overseeing the day-to-day operations of a team of more than 150 attorneys. Her considerable legal project management skills ensure that she has the proper people working on business matters to help clients achieve their objectives, and her own prior experience in investment firms, hedge funds, and other financial services companies means that she's personally familiar with clients' industry.

Cam is responsible for developing and executing strategic plans to grow both the unit's business and attorney headcount, directing recruiting, attorney career growth, and communications. Her efforts have driven considerable revenue increases, and she has overseen the establishment of national practices in insurance and in banking and finance.

Prior to joining Husch Blackwell, Cam served on the executive leadership team at a Milwaukee-based investment firm and led operations, investor relations, and marketing communications for a top 50 global hedge fund. Her roles with these organizations gave her an inside understanding of the needs and challenges of the firm's clients, as well as extensive experience with strategic planning and the infrastructure necessary to support and implement it.

Community Leadership

Cam volunteers with Junior Achievement, where she takes her interest in economics into the classroom. She teaches elementary school children important financial lessons, such as why they should save money, what role taxes play in helping cities run and how much a quarter is really worth. Because there is currently no school curriculum on money or savings, Cam believes the Junior Achievement economics program is a valuable tool for schools and a terrific learning experience for children.
