OVERVIEW

David advises large companies as they achieve their property goals.

His multifaceted understanding of the real estate market extends to acquisitions and dispositions, campus planning and development, complex financing transactions, facilities management, construction contracting, construction administration and leasing. He also represents lenders in commercial real estate, agricultural and asset-based loans.

Among David's noteworthy accomplishments are these:

- Counseling a Fortune 500 company in the planning, site acquisition, assembly, financing and development of an 80-acre corporate headquarters campus in Colorado.
- Advising on a $120 million synthetic lease transaction involving multiple properties in six states for a Fortune 250 company.
- Representing a multinational company with a real estate transaction in the sale of a $675 million wireless communications company.

“David is very knowledgeable about every aspect of real estate. He is great to work with.”
