OVERVIEW

Samantha is passionate about achieving the best possible results for clients.

With a focus on corporate real estate, Samantha works frequently on multifamily developments, wind projects and other corporate real estate transactions and advises on related contracts and purchase/sale agreements. She understands the significant investment that real property often represents, and she knows how much clients care about these projects. Her goal is to help ensure that deals and contracts close on time and that clients' real estate investments remain in line with ever-changing municipal laws.

For Samantha, the highlight of her legal practice is the people she has an opportunity to serve. She enjoys getting to know clients and helping them achieve their business goals through real estate.
