OVERVIEW

Barb represents employers inside and outside the courtroom.

She consults proactively with employers regarding workforce development and management issues based on her 25+ years of experience. On any given day, she may be providing pragmatic advice on topics such as hiring; discipline and terminations; harassment, discrimination, and retaliation; privacy and social media; medical and non-medical leave; reductions in force; executive employment; wage and hour matters; drug testing and cannabis; and employment handbooks, policies. and training.

In the circumstances where claims by employees or regulators cannot be avoided, she represents employers before agencies, in state and federal court, and in arbitration proceedings related to all aspects of the employment relationship, as well as in proceedings involving non-competition agreements, theft of trade secrets, and other business-related claims. Given her deep experience, Barb is often hired to conduct internal workplace investigations on a wide variety of legal and compliance topics.

"Barb provided practical, yet strategic, advice throughout the entire litigation process. She has a great ability to remain calm under pressure and handle even the most difficult situations and people with grace. We always felt like Barb was willing to go that extra mile to listen to us, to understand what we really needed, and to get it done."

HUSCH BLACKWELL

As a leader of the firm's Pay Equity team, Barb has overseen numerous multi-state and federal pay equity audits which can provide employers with defenses to the increasing numbers of pay-related claims across the country.

Barb is also highly experienced at defending public disability accommodation matters under Title III of the ADA, the Fair Housing Act, and various state statutes.

Barb serves as the Office Managing Partner for Husch Blackwell's Denver office.

Featured Experience

Strategic defense of a healthcare system against EEOC avoids trial.

After years of investigation and a failed conciliation, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) filed claims against a healthcare system alleging systemic disparate impact discrimination, disparate treatment and retaliation under Title VII resulting from written health and safety tests given to care providers. Barb and the Husch Blackwell team guided the client through the extensive discovery and aggressive litigation tactics employed by the EEOC prosecutors to establish a strong statistics-based expert defense to the EEOC's claims. After Barb and the team defeated the EEOC's motion for summary judgment, rather than taking the risk of a public loss in front of a jury, the EEOC quickly agreed to settle the case.

Experience
