OVERVIEW

Alycenne focuses her practice on mass tort and product liability matters.

Alycenne enrolled in law school with a background in the field already: she'd worked first as a legal receptionist and then as a paralegal, giving her a solid foundation in the legal system. Her experience also provided her with a unique perspective on the "behind the scenes" of legal operations, as well as client service. As a paralegal, Alycenne had had extensive client contact and seen the importance of connecting with clients on a personal level.

Alycenne also had the opportunity to work closely with clients during her time as a summer associate. Not only did she work directly with firm clients on mass tort and product liability issues, learning as much as possible about their businesses and products, but she also served as an in-house summer associate with a large public utility company. Her in-house experience gave her a broader picture of clients' world and how she can best support clients as outside counsel.

Now a fully qualified attorney, Alycenne represents clients in a variety of product liability and toxic tort matters, including asbestos litigation. As part of the Alliance Motions and Research Team, she has drafted motions for summary judgment, motions to dismiss and compel arbitration, and motions in opposition to plaintiff motions to vacate third party demand. Known for her strategic thinking and creative problem-solving skills, Alycenne is a diligent and analytical attorney who is dedicated to providing hands-on support and representation to clients.
