OVERVIEW

Rosie is a service-oriented paralegal assistant who provides support to litigation teams.

Known for her quick, orderly work, Rosie assists in case management, the filing of pleadings and work with plaintiff medical records. She has more than fifteen years of experience with the firm, and she has worked closely with the Toxic Tort team for much of that time. It's experience that has made her extensively familiar with asbestos law, and she takes a genuine interest in each case and the relevant legal issues.

What Rosie enjoys most about her work is simply helping both clients and attorneys. Inspired to pursue a paralegal career by other legal professionals in her family, she views the law as an opportunity to serve.
