OVERVIEW

Nikki coordinates the defense of toxic tort and product liability litigation.

Nikki has experience representing premises owners, contractors, and product manufacturers in the automotive, industrial equipment, HVAC, transportation, petrochemical, and construction industries. As part of national coordinating counsel teams for major multinational clients, she manages and oversees strategy for hundreds of lawsuits pending in some of the toughest jurisdictions for defendants in the United States.

Clients rely on Nikki's guidance at all phases of litigation, from pleading and discovery through depositions and settlement negotiations. Nikki is renowned for her strong relationships with colleagues, clients, and opposing counsel and her ability to work collaboratively to achieve favorable resolutions. She prides herself on operating with efficiency and flexibility, adeptly adjusting to her clients' strategies and needs in the ever-evolving field of asbestos litigation. Her strategic acumen and proactive approach to client-focused legal solutions make her an invaluable asset to her clients.
