OVERVIEW

As a real estate attorney, Jack enjoys helping clients make cityscape dreams a reality.

Whether analyzing complex development and construction deals, researching financing and tax credits, or helping landlords and tenants negotiate win-win contracts, Jack is eager to help real estate clients thrive. Jack understands that detailed and forward-looking legal guidance is as critical as meticulous blueprints and solid foundations when it comes to building, renewing and growing communities in the real estate sector.

Before joining the firm, Jack served an internship with a major industrial leasing company and an externship with the Hon. Chief Judge Rodney W. Sippel, U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Missouri. Clients and legal teams appreciate his understanding of how business and law intersect.
