OVERVIEW

Rachel defends and counsels employers in sensitive labor and employment matters.

Rachel represents employers facing Labor & Employment claims in state and federal courts and before administrative agencies such as the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the Missouri Commission on Human Rights (MCHR). Rachel defends clients large and small across industry sectors against allegations of discrimination, harassment and retaliation under state and federal statutes and regulations including:

- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act

- Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA)

- Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

- Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

- Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA)

- Missouri Human Rights Act (MHRA)

In addition to rigorous defense, Rachel also provides proactive compliance counseling and internal investigations to avoid or mitigate sensitive issues. Rachel understands that internal handbooks, policies and training can decrease exposure and create win-win work environments that not only have legal benefits, but may align with client business goals such as productivity or cost savings.
