OVERVIEW

Katie supports attorneys and clients throughout asbestos matters.

With a background in asbestos exposure and related litigation, Katie drafts entries, pleadings and motions; organizes documents and completes filings; and manages calendars and schedules for depositions and court deadlines. She has supported cases in the City of St. Louis and various Illinois jurisdictions, including some of the country's busiest and most contentious venues for toxic tort matters.

Katie's experience includes regular work with data storage, and she is extensively familiar with data integrity best practices to maintain information correctly and confidentially. She also frequently assists with discovery requests.

Drawn to law firm work because of the opportunities for collaboration, Katie enjoys contributing to client successes. She's known for proactively anticipating needs and often has documents and files ready and waiting before attorneys and clients have to ask.
