OVERVIEW

Rachel represents clients in product liability matters.

Rachel defends clients in product liability lawsuits, including cases involving product failure and catastrophic events, as well as mass tort and class action suits. Clients appreciate her experience working in-house and her investment in their cases. Rachel treats every case as personal to her and she cares deeply about achieving the best outcome for clients.

After working in the general counsel's office of a specialty food supplier, Rachel gained an understanding of how much is on the plates of corporate clients and their in-house attorneys. Rachel also clerked for the chief judge of the Southern District of Alabama, where she supported and attended a full trial. She then externed at the Department of Justice, where she learned the unique systems of the bankruptcy courts. Clients value Rachel's broad range of experience and her dedication to achieving the outcome that's in their best interests.
