OVERVIEW

Dani brings a flexible, solution-focused approach to labor and employment related matters.

After working in the real estate industry, Dani's passion for collaborating, connecting with people, and serving led her to shift her career focus. This passion brought Dani to the legal industry, where she uses her previous supervisory experiences and her detail-oriented focus to support clients navigating a variety of employment and compliance concerns.

At Husch Blackwell, Dani provides paralegal support to the firm's labor and employment team on both the compliance side and the litigation team. Dani's role includes performing legal research, analyzing documentary evidence, drafting pleadings and responses to discovery requests, and separation and related agreements under attorney supervision. Dani is known for going above and beyond to ensure client needs are met.
