OVERVIEW

Clients rely on Lana's extensive international corporate and commercial experience to seamlessly navigate them through complex cross-border transactions.

Lana concentrates on corporate and commercial matters in a broad range of industries, with a focus on aviation, cybersecurity, and defense. She regularly advises U.S. and foreign clients on their cross-border business activities, particularly in connection with the establishment of operations and negotiation of commercial arrangements.

A significant portion of her cross-border work relates to the representation of clients, including Fortune 500 companies and high-net-worth individuals, in connection with the acquisition, sale, and financing of corporate aircraft. She represents clients

"I have the pleasure of working with Miss Lana Yaghi, one of the best aviation attorneys I've encountered in my 20+ years in the industry. She consistently seeks ways to ensure that legal considerations don't hinder commercial interests, which has often been crucial in preventing deal collapses. Lana is open to feedback, demonstrates excellent business acumen, and remains calm when challenges arise."

throughout the lifecycle of an aircraft deal, starting with broker agreements through to post-closing matters. She regularly advises clients on various parts of the Federal Aviation Regulations (with an emphasis on Part 91) and the intersection with other U.S. federal and state regulations.

Lana's cross-border work also includes the negotiation and implementation of international commercial arrangements. She works with both foreign companies doing business in the U.S. and U.S. clients engaged in foreign markets. A large volume of this work is focused on the representation of aerospace, defense, and cybersecurity companies in connection with their foreign military sales and direct commercial sales activities with U.S. partners and allies, including Poland, Qatar, and other GCC jurisdictions.

Known for being solution-oriented and always available to talk through issues large and small, Lana is perhaps most valued for her ability to work well with clients and deal partners all over the globe.

Lana serves as co-chair of APISWANA, the firm's Asian, Pacific Islander, Southwest Asian, and North African Employee Resource Group.
