OVERVIEW

Elizabeth represents clients in complex commercial litigation matters.

Elizabeth's journey into law was inspired by her previous career on Capitol Hill, where she worked in the U.S. Senate. Witnessing the significant impact of laws and legal decisions, she developed an appreciation for the legal system and a desire to contribute to it. This drive to make a difference and help others led her to pursue a legal career.

Before attending law school, Elizabeth spent seven years in roles that honed her ability to support others and excel in dynamic environments. Her experience includes working for an international philanthropist and supporting the interests of a U.S. Senator, roles where she became adept at forecasting and addressing needs.

Elizabeth was drawn to commercial litigation due to her passion for advocating for clients' best interests, the challenge of litigation, and the excitement of the courtroom. She enjoys oral advocacy and crafting compelling narratives. During law school, Elizabeth deepened her knowledge of litigation and legal procedure through coursework, internships with the Wisconsin Elections Commission and Catholic Charities, and a summer as a summer associate at Husch Blackwell.

Known for her strong work ethic and her empathy, Elizabeth excels at offering clients creative solutions.
