OVERVIEW

Rick defends clients in various areas of litigation, including mass tort and product liability cases.

With a passion for finding solutions to complex issues, Rick decided to pursue a legal career by providing dependable support and comprehensive legal representation. From the beginning of his legal education, he was drawn to torts and product liability, enjoying the challenge of applying the law to intricate factual scenarios and understanding the complexities of various products.

During law school, Rick gained practical experience through an in-house internship with the litigation team at a Fortune 300 transportation company. This experience sparked his interest in complex litigation and provided him with valuable insights into the unique needs of corporate clients. As a summer associate at Husch Blackwell, Rick further honed his ability to address clients' needs by researching the impact of new laws on their operations.

Rick is known as a communicative team player who effectively solves issues and handles matters to completion. His dedication to finding creative solutions makes him a valuable asset to clients and the firm.
