OVERVIEW

Brennan works with clients on banking and finance matters, including drafting and reviewing loan and security agreements and supporting business transactions.

With a foundation in finance and a strong commitment to continuous learning, Brennan pursued a legal career to apply his attention to detail and adaptability in a meaningful way. He was drawn to the dynamic intersection of business and legal practice, finding business and corporate law classes especially engaging during law school.

Holding a dual degree in law and finance, Brennan appreciates how deeply connected these disciplines are. As a summer associate at Husch Blackwell, he gained practical experience drafting and reviewing credit and security agreements, attending client meetings and lender negotiations, and conducting legal research on transactional matters. This hands-on exposure deepened his interest in banking and finance and offered valuable insight into the day-to-day work of supporting clients in this space.

Brennan is committed to helping businesses grow and guiding entrepreneurs toward their goals. Known for being detail-oriented, adaptable, and responsive, he excels at communicating complex legal concepts in a clear and accessible way. Clients value his thoughtful explanations, integrity, and dependable approach to problem-solving.
