OVERVIEW

Stevie assists with real estate needs in the energy industry.

Stevie chose a legal career in order to help people navigate challenges and improve systems that shape lives. Her desire to make a positive impact led her to law school, where the complexity and logic of transactional law quickly became a strong interest. Courses in business organizations, mergers and acquisitions, and client relations highlighted a natural ability for negotiation and collaborative problem-solving.

As a law student, Stevie interned for a federal judge, developing strong writing skills for a range of audiences. She also served as a summer associate at Husch Blackwell, gaining hands-on experience with real estate and development projects, including researching public records, drafting legal documents, and assisting with corporate transactions such as mergers and acquisitions. Exposure to both real estate and corporate teams provided a broad understanding of how these areas intersect, especially in the context of energy projects.

Clients value Stevie's diligence, integrity, and commitment to delivering quality work. Known for being dependable, detail-oriented, and thoughtful, Stevie brings a balanced approach to every transaction. Strong communication and organizational skills help ensure that deals move forward efficiently and that all parties feel heard and respected throughout the process.
