Husch Blackwell LLP has been engaged to represent the Regional Transportation District in association with its redevelopment of the Denver Union Station Historic Building. This engagement helps to facilitate the adaptive re-use of the Historic Building. In addition to housing Amtrak and RTD facilities, the new Denver Union Station will also feature a boutique hotel, bar, restaurant and retail operations. RTD anticipates a grand reopening in March 2014.

Husch Blackwell Senior Counsel Kevin Kelley and Of Counsel Paul Jacobs are leading the firm's representation of RTD.

Husch Blackwell's Real Estate & Development attorneys pursue an interdisciplinary approach to sophisticated real estate transactions, combining the firm's wealth of experience and knowledge in areas such as finance, environmental law, construction and design, corporate entities, taxation, public finance, municipal law and real estate dispute resolution to offer clients creative and flexible solutions to the variety of problems that arise in sophisticated real estate transactions. Husch Blackwell publishes substantive updates on commercial real estate through its Real Estate & Development Law Update.
