ABA Health Law Section Names Husch Blackwell to Annual Top 10 List

The American Bar Association has ranked Husch Blackwell on its Health Law Section's annual Top 10 Regional Recognition List in the Midwest and South regions. This marks the fifth consecutive year Husch Blackwell was named among the top ten law firms in these regions. The firm placed fourth in both the Midwest and South regions.

The ABA Health Section's Top 10 Regional Law Firms ranking is based on the number of active Health Law Section attorney members from law firms at the end of the bar year (August 31). Rosters are based on data contained in the ABA membership database which is sorted by region and law firm before counting.

Husch Blackwell's Healthcare, Life Sciences and Education industry group ranks annually among the largest in the United States. In February 2018 American Lawyer Media (ALM) recognized Husch Blackwell among its "Top Ten Law Firms Most Used in Healthcare." The firm ranked fourth among all law firms for the volume of work handled on behalf of Fortune 1000 healthcare-industry companies. The firm is also listed among the American Health Lawyers Association (AHLA) top ten law firms as measured by AHLA membership. Husch Blackwell is one of just two law firms to be ranked currently on both lists.
