

EU DATA PROTECTION AND PRIVACY

Data protection and privacy regulation in Europe is a continually evolving area of law, creating numerous compliance challenges for data controllers and processors around the world. U.S. companies are no exception. Businesses must discern how legislation such as the EU's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and ePrivacy Directive apply to their operations and, if so, how to comply with them. Our team of privacy attorneys understands these laws and helps clients determine how their company's operations are impacted and what they need to do to ensure compliance.

Our counsel includes:

Guidance on if and how GDPR applies to a business

Online privacy policies and cookie disclosures

Implementing cookie consent banners

Drafting and negotiating data processing agreements

Data inventories and maps

Data breach preparation and response

Cross-border data transfer compliance issues

Privacy and data security due diligence

Contact Information

David M. Stauss
303.892.4429
david.stauss@ huschblackwell.com